

Assignment Preparation Services

Helping you complete ownership transfers quickly and efficiently

Documenting the transfer of ownership rights through the filing of assignments is an integral part of the loan sale process. With today's challenging compliance and regulatory requirements, why not let CoreLogic® take care of your document needs so you can focus on your core business? CoreLogic can handle every step of the assignment process, including data and document retrieval, document preparation, execution, recording and delivery.

CoreLogic goes well beyond standard search methods to provide the documentation you need. You realize the benefit of our nationwide document and data repositories as well as our nationwide network of field researchers to find the documents you need – when you need them.
